The motion for immediate consideration is DENIED.

The motion to dismiss is also DENIED because appellee has not clearly established that this Court lacks jurisdiction over the claim of appeal. We particularly note that the examples of an "interested person" provided by MCL 700.1105(c) are plainly non-exhaustive because that statutory provision provides that an "interested person" "includes, but is not limited to" the examples it enumerates. Further, it appears at least arguable that appellant may be a "claimant" within the meaning of MCR 5.125(C)(11). This order is without prejudice to appellee advancing any argument regarding this Court's jurisdiction that she considers appropriate before the case call panel.
